Vegeta's best character moments to me are categorized this way:

1. When he's being a true warrior with epic motivational beats like the Final Flash in Z or the Majin Vegeta vs SSJ2 Goku fight.
2. When he is displaying that he cares about something more than his own strength, i.e friendship/family. Best examples of this are of course the Final Explosion in Z and IMO the moments in the DBS Future Trunks Arc anime or manga. In the anime it would be something like his speech to Trunks about the next threat after Black and to always keep training or in the manga when Trunks tells Vegeta about Future Bulma always wanting to see him.

These moments show very different aspects of Vegeta that harmonize to create one of the most emotionally driven characters around. And it's really cool when he's done well.
